Geo. D. Wearen, Agt.
Also dealer in Buggies, Carriages, Surreys, Spring Wagons, Farm Wagons, Harvesting Machines, Planters, Harrows and all kinds of Farming Machine

W. P. WALTON.

With the weather as bright as the hearts of millions of people were cheerful and thankful, the memorable 4th of this democratic year of our Lord, was all that anxious democrats could ask and hundreds of thousands of them gathered at Washington to see their party resume control of the Government, and viewed the inauguration of President Cleveland under the most favorable circumstances. There was probably more pomp and ceremony than was necessary in this country, but 24 years is a long time to stay out in the cold and the democrats are not to be censured for showing their gladness with processions, music, flags and shouts. At 12.30, everything being in readiness, President Cleveland arose from his seat in the Senate chamber and began his inaugural address, which was concise, clear and comprehensive. He promised an entire consecration of every faculty and effort to the promotion of the public welfare and although the executive branch of the government had been transferred to new keeping, he pledged that it should still be the government of all the people, directed by a devotion to the constitution and a desire to secure the priceless benefits intended by its founders by promoting "the greatest good to the greatest number." Public expenditures should be limited to the actual needs of an economically administered government, because this bounds the right of the government to exact tribute from the earnings of the laborer and the prosperity of the citizen, and because public extravagance begets extravagance among the people. Our foreign policy should be that of Monroe and Washington and Jefferson—peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations, and entangling alliances with none. Our finances must be established on a sound, sensible basis, such as shall secure the safety and confidence of business interests and make the wages of the laborer sure and steady, and our system of revenue shall be so adjusted as to relieve the people from unnecessary taxation, having a due regard to the interests of capital invested and working men employed in American industries, and preventing the accumulation of a surplus in the Treasury to tempt extravagance and waste. The public domain shall be protected from purloining schemes and unlawful occupations; the Indians within our borders must be treated as wards of the government, fairly and honestly, with a view to their education and civilization; polygamy should be repressed and the laws against Chinese immigration should be rigidly enforced. To secure reform and the application of business principles to public affairs, the civil service law should be in good faith enforced and merit and competency recognized. The colored people should have no anxiety touching the protection of their rights. They are citizens and as such entitled to all the rights due to that relation under the constitution and amendments. Concluding, he again expressed a firm determination to secure as much as in his power lay the full benefits of the best form of government ever vouchsafed to man, invoking always the aid of Almighty God and his blessings upon his labors. The oath of office was then administered by Chief Justice Waite, the bible used being the one which Cleveland's mother gave him when he left home as a young man. The President then took a carriage for the White House, to which he was followed by a magnificent procession, which he reviewed after reaching there. At night he attended the ball and at 11.30 retired from public gaze. On the 4th page we give his and Vice President Hendricks' pictures and those of the members of the cabinet. There is rather too much East in its make up, but they are all good men and democrats true and deserve the confidence of the country.

Tax Grant—cancer-dying business has been worked for all it was worth and with big effect. The House in its last moments passed the Edmunds bill, placing him on the retired list of the army, the vote standing: yeas 198; nays 78. The Senate had already passed the bill and it became a law upon receiving the President's signature. It will give Gen. Grant about $140,000 back pay and $12,500 per year during the remainder of his life. This is an outrage on the tax payers of the country, who have already contributed hundreds of thousands of dollars for the old sucker to throw away.

That "unreconstructed, intoxicated rebel," Col. Polk Johnson, suggests in the Louisville Times that the dime museum men will miss a fortune if they fail to corral John D. White and others just retiring from politics with a dull thud. The idea is a good one, but the Col. need not lay the flattering unction to his soul that White is permanently retired. He may turn up yet in the Senate Legislature to offer some further resolutions and continue the role he has been playing for years.

The New Argus is trending on dangerous ground when it says: "The fact is, the editor of the Post likes but few people. He only dislikes some men less than others. It is a case of disordered liver." The first thing you know, Capt. Treble, you want know "nothing." You'll have to run your hand down in your pocket for two little cents when you want the Post. Col. Saeers' less treasonable language

BROTHER MUNNELL, with his usual fatherly solicitude, says in his paper, the Louisville Democrat: "The sprightly editor of the Louisville Post and the brilliant editor of the INTERIOR JOURNAL first criticized each other, then fell to calling names and thence to cutting each other's 'exchange' off. This is really too bad. Come, boys, make up. It is real unpleasant and inconvenient for editors or public men to be at odds and unable to meet each other before the public in a courteous, well behaved manner." We are willing to accept your kind advice Bro. Munnell to kiss and make up with Col. Saeers, but we must name the conditions, which are as follows, to wit: The Col. shall leave his trying position on the Post and come at once to Crab Orchard Springs. He shall then go through a course of the salts water, or rather it shall go through him; afterwards he shall be doctored with Simmon's Liver Regulator till every particle of the accumulated bile of a quarter of a century shall have left his system. He shall then be purged with hyssop and fumigated with smoking flax and if after being thoroughly cleaned with home made soap and a new raiment placed upon his body, he will promise and bind himself, his heirs and assigns never to refer to Col. Watterson as a marplot and a time server or to us as a bob-tailed editor we will then take him in our arms and imprint the holy kiss. As the Col. will not see this paper, we authorize you to act as our friend in the matter and acquaint him with the conditions in the compromise. If he refuses to acquiesce, then you are at liberty to use any means of coercion in your power or that your foot-toe may suggest and notify us accordingly.

There will be no need of an extra session of Congress. All the appropriation bills were passed before time was called Wednesday, save the river and harbor bill, and that perhaps is better lost. It is usually nothing but a huge raid on the treasury in the interest of the Congressmen, who try to keep in with their constituents by gobbling as much as possible.

The new Cabinet was not sent to the Senate for confirmation till yesterday.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

—Dr. J. M. Cardwell, of Lebanon, is dead.

—The Pension bill as finally passed appropriates $60,000,000.

—The university of Louisville turned out 75 graduates Tuesday.

—A colliery explosion at Sunderland, England, killed 36 men.

—Mrs. Eliza Blaine Walker, only sister of James G. Blaine, died at Baltimore.

—Seventy-four tons of hemp sold in Franklin county this week at $7 per ton.

—B. F. Avery, founder of the largest plow manufactory in the world, died at Louisville Tuesday.

—Texas Tuesday laid the corner stone of its new capital. It will be the biggest State capital in the United States.

—Maj. John A. Harris is announced for the Senate in the district composed of Madison, Estill and Rockcastle counties.

—During the two sessions of the forty-eighth Congress there have been introduced into the House 8,286 bills and 345 joint resolutions.

—Mr. Peter A. Karins, proprietor of the Marble Works on Water street, died at the Norris House on Tuesday night of typhoid fever.—Lebanon Standard.

—Gov. Hindman has set the day of execution for Gus Finley, the Floyd county murderer, whose case the Court of Appeals affirmed, at Friday, April 17.

—By the democrats deserting their posts, the republicans in the House succeeded at 2 A. M. on the 4th in passing the Pacific Mail subsidy scheme by a vote of 100 to 89.

—Gov. Hale, of New Hampshire, has appointed Henry W. Blair United States Senator, ad interim. Senator Blair's successor will be chosen by the Legislature which assembles in June.

—Mr. Mills' resolution in the House that members should not participate in the inaugural ceremonies because of alleged slight by the Committee of Arrangements, was lost—yeas 55, nays 184.

—It is understood that it is the retiring President's intention to settle down to the quiet practice of his profession, not appearing personally in a court-room, as it is not considered in good taste to do so.

—A bold attempt was made to rob the State treasury at Lincoln, Neb. One robber was captured, one mortally wounded and the others fled. The attempt was made at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

—A man named Adams, who was awaiting trial for forgery at Tazewell, Claiborne county, Tenn., confessed to the jailer a few days since to having committed murder at East Hampton, Mass., over ten years ago.

—A fatal malady has attacked horses and cattle in Noble county, Ohio. The disease affects the kidney or spine, and death ensues in a very few hours. The disease has ravaged one township and is spreading.

—One hundred thirty-four dead of cattle are in sight, ready for shipment. North in the next sixty days from St. Charles, Texas, providing the quarantine laws of other States do not prevent it. The outlook is uncertain.

—J. C. McPadden was arrested in O'Connell Wednesday charged with the murder of Wm. Romines in Owen county, Ky., in 1867. He has been a fugitive from justice since and it is said has killed 3 other men since.

—The President has ordered a court martial for the trial of Brig. Gen. W. B. Hazen on charges of conduct prejudicial to military discipline. The —Vice-President Hendricks took charge of the Senate at noon, Wednesday, when Mr. Edmunds was forced to take a back seat.

—The last official act of President Arthur was the signing of the bill regulating appeals from Supreme Courts of the several Territories.

—The Arkansas Senate has passed a bill changing the name of Dorsey county to Cleveland county, in honor of the President. The county was originally named for Senator S. W. Dorsey.

—Rev. Morris Evans, President of Millersburg Female College, has been under treatment from Dr. Bright during the past two weeks for cancer on the under lip. He is now about relieved and will shortly resume his duties in his school.—[Henry County Local.

—A successful raid was made on the "Hensley boys" in the mountains near Harlan, Ky.; one of the outlaws, Levi Hensley, was killed and three of the Sheriff's posse were wounded, but Wm. A. Asher and Gilbert Hensley and John Deen were safely jailed. Smoke houses, hen roosts and bee hives have for years been their special quarry.

—The following sarcastic dispatch was sent to Mt. Sterling by the citizens of Catlettsburg, who resent the solicitude shown by Mt. Sterling people to save Neal. "For God's sake send a Montgomery guard to Lexington to save A. M. Bowling. We have serious doubts of his guilt. Boyd county will furnish delicacies and flowers when the spring time comes, gentle Annie."

—A company of Michigan capitalists have just purchased 20,000 acres of coal and timber lands in Laurel county, and will, it is said, construct a narrow gauge railroad from the Knoxville branch of the L. & N. into their lands to enable them to get the coal and timber to market. There are indications of a regular boom in the way of development of the resources of Eastern Kentucky.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—M. C. Thurman sold Wednesday to Redd & Cox, of Atlanta, a three-year-old saddle colt for $105.

—M. C. Thurman has sold his butcher shop to Messrs. Wm. Moreland and Sandridge, of Lincoln county.

—D. N. Hinman has sold his interest in the livery and sale stable to E. W. Lee; the firm is now Bruce & Lee.

—Edward Cox, of Atlanta, bought of John Cook, a fine black mare at $150; from A. P. Vandewater a pair of horses for $280.

—H. E. Samuel has sold his handsome residence on Broadway to E. W. Lee for $6,800 cash. Possession is to be given April 1st.

—Mr. Jno. W. Egleman has gone to Erie, Pa., to leave some thorough-bred mares belonging to Thos. McRoberts to be bred to Capt. Cottrell's fine horse Rey'en D'Or.

—The friends of Miss Belle Hughes in Stanford and elsewhere will be gratified to learn that she is now steadily improving and that she will in all probability be able soon to ride out.

—S. Lazarus & Bro., will shortly give away a first-class Singer sewing machine and every person who buys from them goods to the amount of $1 has a chance to be the lucky person.

—Mr. Benjamin Boling, an old and highly respected citizen of Danville, died Wednesday night after a long illness from a complication of diseases. His funeral will take place Friday morning at 10 o'clock from his late residence on Walnut street.

—It is not altogether a proper proceeding for members of a Temperance Lodge to fall out and fight but it becomes your correspondent's duty as an impartial historian to record such an occurrence as happening in the purified atmosphere of Danville. There is a colored Lodge here and Miss Milly Jones and Miss Lucinda Brooks are members and it was during a discussion of financial questions a few nights ago that they disagreed and from calling each other liars with emphatic prefixes, got into each other's wool. The two women and a host of witnesses were up before the Police Court Wednesday, when Brooks was fined $5, Jones was dismissed.

—A white man named William Hollis, about 25 years old, abandoned his wife and two children last Saturday and eloped with a young girl named Maria Eads, who has been living in Mercer county, near Burgin. Miss Eads is a step daughter of Hollis' sister and a only 16 years old. Hollis' brother thinks the truant couple have gone to Douglas county, Ill. Hollis has been in this county two or three years and worked as a farm hand for a time on the farm of Judge Sumner and still later on the farm of W. F. Davis, where the deserted wife and children now are. Since Hollis' departure Mrs. Hollis has received a letter addressed to her husband by Miss Eads in which she calls him "Dear Uncle Will" and tells him to "come to me soon." Accompanying the following couplet of original poetry:

"A silver dollar shines and so does tin,
I love my Uncle Will, it is a sin."

Our friend of the Louisville Times who accepted our proposition for the following highly appreciative, though undeserved notice: "They will not receive reward in heaven if they fail to receive it here, for their words of comfort will allow toller."

The Stanford Interior Journal has just closed its thirtieth year, ten of which have been under the patient watch-care and excellent management of Mr. W. P. Walton. It is a newspaper in the best sense; an honest, fearless newspaper. And with no desire to puff for the mere sake of puffing—a habit disgustingly common—it can be truthfully said that it has been well

GARRARD COUNTY DEPARTMENT.

Lancaster.

—There will be a special term of the Garrard Circuit Court next Friday and Saturday.

—March 6(a) appears to have been ground-hog day for the republicans and no shadows were visible.

—John Woodcock has at last thrown up the sponge, acknowledged the election of Cleveland and is paying his bets.

—A class in dancing, composed of about twenty young men, is being taught at the town hall by Prof. Stormes.

—Dennis Ryan shot and killed a valuable horse belonging to Mr. Fred Conn the other night. He claims it was accidental.

—Those venerable patriarchs, George D. Burdett and John H. Woodcock, went to Louisville Monday to assist Bro. Moody in his gospel meetings in that city.

—A great deal of sickness is reported by the physicians. At Mrs. Eliza Burdett's, near town, four members of the family are ill with something like malarial fever.

—Kite flying is a popular diversion among the Lancaster small boys at present. Some of the large boys indulge in the practice also, but they do their flying, for the most part, at night.

—Took Hubble has returned from the South where he made several thousand dollars mule trading. He is still short, however, on his election experience, and will never cease to regret that he didn't copper Blaine.

—Mr. Butler Egleman, of Paint Lick, has moved to the property he recently purchased of J. W. Griffin, on Danville, Street. Mr. Geo. W. Bettis has removed from Gilbert's Creek to his property on Crab Orchard street.

—As usual the farmers declare the wheat is all dead, and, as usual, the farmers are talking at random. The farmers are getting so bad that truth can no longer be found in the wells in the country, but must be looked for in the cisterns around town.

—Just as the clock began striking twelve Wednesday the bells on the court-house, hotels and churches began to ring, the mill whistle to blow, several anvils began firing and altogether for a few minutes we had quite a pandemonium. Daws Hews, who was managing the anvils, fired 219 shots. No one was hurt. The republicans didn't seem to enjoy any of the fun.

—Judge and Mrs. M. H. Owsley and C. W. Sweeney went to the inauguration. Capt. and Mrs. T. A. Elkin have gone to New Orleans to spend several weeks. Will Harris has gone to Covington to accept a position in the telegraph office there. W. O. Sweeney and C. Gallagher have gone to New York to buy goods. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hays, of Lincoln county, were visiting relatives here Tuesday. Mr. J. P. Sandifer went to Cincinnati on business Tuesday.

H. J. DART offers for sale 2 building lots, 60x132 feet, between Stanford and Rowland, well located and accessible.

The grand Cathedral clock made by Mr. F. G. Brady was won by Mr. Reuben Williams, who held the lucky number, 44. It is valued at $60.

THE negro Peter Whitley, recently sent to the lunatic asylum, turned up at home this week, when his father, thinking he had escaped, brought him to the jail here.

W. R. CARSON & SON are making an exceedingly handsome set of harness for Mr. B. K. Wearren, which shows the high quality of work this house is capable of doing.

We think we have been waiting long enough for all our customers to settle up and now we insist on their coming and settling, as we need the money badly. J. W. Hayden.

THE Hon. W. S. Helm who died at Eminence Wednesday, was a brother of Mrs. Wesley Rout of this place. She was Miss Amanda Helm and is the last survivor of 21 children.

DEATH.—Mrs. Dora Moore, daughter of Mr. Gran. Mershon, died at her home near Mason's Gap, Monday night, of puerperal fever, aged 20 years, leaving an infant but eight days old.

EVEN the weather has improved under a democratic administration. The 4th was glorious and bright as though Providence was smiling on the new order of things and yesterday was almost as fine.

A SCANDALOUSLY executed bunch of wild flowers, painted on a panel by one lovely little friend, Miss Anna Hays, and set in a handsome hammered brass frame, was sent to us with her compliments Tuesday. The painting was a beautiful work of art in an artistic and worthy of a master. We are proud to have it in our gallery and it is a credit to the artist and the artist's little sister.

OUR friend, F. J. Campbell, the founder of the INTERIOR JOURNAL, takes exceptions to the phrase "weakly and weekly patent outside," as applied by us to its condition when we took charge of it. We had no intention whatever to reflect on the editorial work on the paper which we must confess was much better than it is now. It was only with reference to its support that we spoke and if our words were mis construed, we beg pardon for not making them plainer.

Bird and Squirrel cages at W. H. Higgins'.

OUR thanks are due to an obliging depot agent, J. A. Carpenter, for favors.

JUST IN.—Carload Northern seed oats, 50c per bushel. Bright & Curran.

Do NOT buy a stove until you see the Wrought Iron Range at W. H. Higgins'.

W. E. HAY, accused of counterfeiting, was acquitted by the U. S. Court. Col. T. P. Hill and Judge Sandley were his lawyers.

OUR fourth page is a daisy, giving as it does, the pictures of the President, Vice-President and cabinet together with other scenes of the memorable 4th.

THE mail messenger on the South bound train did not put us off a single paper yesterday. He had better be on his ps and qs now, or we will have a democrat put in his place.

OUR neighboring town of Crab Orchard boiled over with enthusiasm at noon on the 4th, raised a flag and had a big time generally. Prof. Rice's school, which enjoys the distinction of having a solid democratic scholarship, was out in full force.

MAJ. RIGNEY made up his mind before leaving here Tuesday to become a candidate for re-election to the Senate and authorized us to announce him as such. He has a great many friends in this county who will be glad of another chance to vote for him.

LET OFF LIGHT.—Marshal Newland brought Spears Fisher before Judge Carson Tuesday when he pleaded guilty of assault on H. T. Harris and asked the court to be as light on him as possible. He was let off with a fine of $15 and costs, which he promised to replevy at once, but having failed to do so yet a capias will be issued for him.

LOST HIS MIND.—Squire J. P. Daniel was here yesterday to get Judge Varnon to go out to Mr. Bennett Cloyd's to try his son Bennett for lunacy, which seems to have been produced by over study. He is 25 years old and has been a great book worm. His mind has been weakening for some time, but he never grew very violent till Wednesday when he attempted to kill his mother.

KILLED.—John Bowman, town marshal at East Bernstadt, shot C. M. Lovelace, a merchant, twice Monday, in the hand and in the abdomen, from which he died next day. Bowman was under arrest. The shooting occurred over a trivial matter. Lovelace was weighing some pigs' feet, when Bowman, who was drinking, shoved some fellow against the scales. He told him that if he did it again he would hit him with one of the feet, which he did on a repetition. Bowman then shot at Lovelace, who got his pistol and they both fired till their pistols were empty, with the above result. Before dying Lovelace sent for Bowman and forgave him and asked that no prosecution be had for the killing. Lovelace was from this county, to which his body was brought Wednesday for interment at Mt. Moriah church.

THE only surviving pensioner of the war of 1812 in this county is Captain Jas. Eubanks, who was in town yesterday having his papers fixed for a quarterly draw of $24. The old gentleman is now 94 years old and tells us that he was born in Henrico county, Va., removing to this State with his parents when at the age of ten. He married twice and became the father of 17 children, 14 of whom are still living, his youngest but 11 years of age. His family is generally long lived, his father having reached 94 and his grand father 104 years. A tobacco chewer since he was 16 and a drinker whenever he felt like it, not often, however, to excess, his prolonged life seems to be a contradiction of the theory that a man must do neither to live long upon the earth. Mr. Eubanks has been a hard man to kill. He had the yellow fever while in the South and later in life a tree fell on him and knocked his neck out of joint so that his head lay on his shoulder. After a long time a doctor succeeded in getting it to stand alone, but his neck was always stiff.

THE young man Leach, who was drunk and flourishing a pistol around here Monday, was tried before Judge Carson and sentenced to pay a fine of $20 and to go to jail for ten days for carrying a deadly weapon. So far so good. Leach had a sufficient amount of money to pay the fine and costs and then have a small roll for a lawyer, so it was fixed up that he shouldn't go to jail, the judge suspending the judgment of imprisonment at the request of the attorney, who promised that Gov. Knott should pardon him. This is a nice way to execute the law and shrewdly renders the statute against carrying concealed weapons nugatory. The Circuit Court is guilty of the same vicious practice constantly and we suppose the judge is only following precedent. The imprisonment is the main feature of the punishment and the next legislature should take the power from these tender-hearted judges to suspend sentences in such cases. The suspension of a judgment is usually the last of the case.

Four years from now, says the Evans, of New York, will be the President of the United States. I believe there is to be a revolution, money between now and then has no special interest for us. Globe Democrat of the 31.

MARRIAGES.

—W. H. Martin, Crofton, Ky., eloped 40 miles with Emma Henderson, only to find, after procuring a license, that she proposed to marry his rival, O. S. Stevens, of Hopkinsville, whom she telegraphed and married on his arrival.

—Mr. J. Emil Bier, a thrifty young gentleman from Switzerland, obtained license yesterday to marry Miss Lillian A. Bastin, daughter of J. D. Bastin, of Highland. We are glad to know that our new population is commingling so pleasantly with the old.

—Mr. Alexander Dudderan and Miss Elizabeth East were married at Mrs. Murray's Wednesday by Rev. J. M. Bruce. Mr. Dudderan is a No. 1 engineer employed on the L. & N. and his bride is said to be pretty and capable of making a real helpmeet.

—At 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the residence of the bride's mother in Liberty, our former townman, the popular and capable young physician, Dr. O. H. McRoberts, was united in marriage to Miss Mattie L. Coffey, the attractive and accomplished belle of the town. Rev. Wm. Cloyd performed the ceremony and Messrs. Cora Whipp and Mollie Hays and Messrs. Edward Tanner and W. B. McRoberts acted as attendants. Afterwards an elegant supper was enjoyed and yesterday the happy couple came to the groom's father's, Rev. S. S. McRoberts, where another reception was tendered them. Our best wishes will attend them through life.

RELIGIOUS.

—A Methodist revival at Catlettsburg has resulted so far in 16 conversions.

—Rev. J. E. Triplett will preach at McKinney on next Sabbath at 11 o'clock A. M.

—Moody has closed in Louisville after accomplishing a grand work. Thirty-seven churches in that city began revivals Wednesday to gather the converts into the fold.

—Bishop Taylor, of the Methodist church, who with a few followers has gone on a wild mission to christianize the interior of Africa, wants his salary continued, but the Book Committee refuses it.

—A private letter from London says the Kentucky Mountain Evangelist, Rev. Geo. O. Barnes, left London with his family Feb. 12 for India. Mr. J. T. Pirie, the New York gentleman who provided the means to take Mr. Barnes to London, sent him £560 for the India trip. (Louisville Times.)

—Mr. Moody, in answer to a question, said that it was a mistake that he had ever instructed Mr. Geo. O. Barnes, the evangelist, or that Mr. Barnes had instructed him. He admitted Mr. Barnes very much and frequently had him to come to Chicago to preach for him. (Louisville Times.)

—The revised edition of the Old Testament is shortly to appear and publishers will likely fight shy of it. The new edition of the New Testament caused them a loss of over $300,000. There was no demand for it after the first few days and in New York wagon load after wagon load was carted into Leavitt's auction house on Broadway and $1 volumes sold for nine cents. The same thing was done at Macy & Co's, where from 15,000 to 40,000 copies were sold at from 10 to 18 cents each.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP.

—Adam Pence sold to Sanford Erwin 7 head cattle at $34.

—G. A. Lackey sold to Perkins & Lawson a jack for $100.

—I want a few loads of corn at once. R. T. Mattingly, Stanford.

—John S. Hughes rented 45 acres of blue grass of John W. Holmes at $3.25.

—Samuel W. Givens & Son bought a lot of long yearling cattle at $35 per head.

—Frank Gentry bought 27 head of mules at $80 to $100 and Warren Bailey bought several at $100 to $175. (Lebanon Standard.)

—The Woodford Sun says Ben C. Stevenson sold 10 hogheads of tobacco at an average of $11.50 and W. H. Graves 8 hogheads at $13.50.

—W. G. Dunn, of this county, has purchased of F. T. Fox, Jr., El Mahdi, a four-year-old gelding, sired by Messenger Chief, first dam Paris Maid for $450.

—The cattle market in Louisville is unchanged, prices ranging from 2 to 5 1/2 cents. Hogs have dropped to 5 for best to 3 1/2 for common. Sheep 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 cents.

—Clark Cash had 15 lambs and one ewe killed by dogs in one night, but he had the satisfaction of ending the careers of six of his neighbors' dogs which he caught in traps.

—J. M. Hail sold to Aleck Traylor 21 3-year-old steers at $35 per head and to Major King an extra saddle horse for $150. He bought of Robt. G. Hail his saddle horse for $150.

—Squire Portman says it is all a lie about the wheat being killed. He has examined it from here to the Casey line and finds that with one exception the stand is splendid. The type in most instances look dead but the grain is there all right. We hope he is not mistaken.

—W. A. Givens sold to Mr. Corcoran, of Richmond, Va., 18,000 pounds of tobacco at 8 1/2 cts. averaged 1,500 pounds per acre and sold about $210 of the crop raised on the same ground last year, which sold at 14 cts. Geo. Becker sold 75 head of feeding cattle at $55 per head or about $4,125 per pound. (Paris Kentuckian.)

—The land of Julius W. Johnson, 280 situated 3 miles from Georgetown, was sold at public sale and bought by Mr. J. A. Lackey for $68.50 per acre. It is very cheap.

—PARKER is attending to the market and all sold.

—Ago and 550, and other grades of mules offered with on demand, but prices were good for $150.

—I have for sale a lot of seed corn, of the variety that has taken the premiums at the State Fair at Frankfort for the last two years. It is large and very fine. Price $1 per bushel. B. W. Gaines, Shelby City.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND

VICE PRESIDENT HENDRICKS AND THE CABINET.

Pen and Pencil Sketches of the New Administration—The Men Who Are to Guide the Ship of State Under the New Democratic Regime.

GROVER CLEVELAND, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

In 1870, Mr. Cleveland was chosen sheriff of Erie county, N. Y., and served a single term. In 1881 he was elected mayor of the city of Buffalo, in the same state, and on November of the following year he was elected governor of the state of New York by the largest majority ever given to any candidate for the same office in any state of the Union, and on November 4 was elected president. Such is the brief but remarkably brilliant political career of President Cleveland. He is descended from a New England family noted for its religious zeal. His great grandfather was a Congregational minister of Norwich Conn. His father, Richard Cleveland, was a Presbyterian. He married a Miss Neal, of Baltimore, and soon after settled as pastor of a little church in the town of Essex, N. J., where Grover was born March 18, 1837. Receiving a common school education and a brief course of study at an academy, young Grover determined at the age of eighteen to go west and seek his fortune, so he started for Cleveland, O., being attracted to that city because it bore his name. On his way there he stopped at Buffalo to visit his uncle, Mr. Lewis F. Allen, who offered him a clerkship in order to prevent him going further west. This position he accepted, and soon after, determining on law as his profession, he entered the office of Rogers, Bowen & Rogers to study. In 1859 he was admitted to the bar. Four years later he was appointed assistant district attorney for the county of Erie, which position he held for three years. In 1863 he was nominated for district attorney, but was defeated. In 1871 he became a member of the law firm of Bass, Cleveland & Biswell. Mr. Cleveland is one of a family of nine children.

THOMAS ANDREWS HENDRICKS, VICE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Thomas Andrews Hendricks was born in Muskingum county, Ohio, September 7, 1819. In 1823 his father settled in Shelby county, Ind. Thomas graduated at South Hanover college in 1843, studied law at Chambersburg, Pa., was admitted to the bar there in 1848, and returned to Indiana to practice. In 1848 he was a member of the legislature, and in 1850 a delegate to the state constitutional convention. From 1851 to 1855 he represented the Indianapolis district in congress, from 1855 to 1859 was commissioner of the general land office, and from 1859 to 1869 was a member of the United States senate, in which he was regarded as the democratic leader. As candidate for governor of Indiana he was defeated in 1869 and 1873, but was elected in 1873 for the term ending January 1, 1877, as a candidate for the vice-presidency. In 1876 he shared the defeat of Samuel J. Tilden. Mr. Hendricks has a patrician face and bearing, a ready voice and cold light blue eyes. He can make a graceful speech and talks well always. He belongs to the intellectual and rapidly increasing order of smooth-faced men. His high forehead, squarely built face, Roman nose and thin, closely compressed lips bespeak the reserve and caution which are the dominant traits of his character.

THOMAS F. BAYARD, SECRETARY OF STATE.

Three generations of Bayards have occupied exalted stations in congress and our diplomatic service. Grandfather, son and grandson have all been distinguished members of the United States senate. The two latter were members of that body from the same state for a time, which is the only instance of the kind that has occurred. The present member of this illustrious family, Thomas F. Bayard, is in his fifty-seventh year. He is tall, well built, healthy, has been sixteen years in the senate, and is looked upon in Washington as a type of official purity. He has been married twenty-eight years, and has twelve children, nine of whom are daughters. Mrs. Bayard spends a part of each winter with her husband in Washington, though she much prefers, as her husband does, the modest, old-fashioned mansion in the extreme southern portion of Wilmington, overlooking Delaware bay. Mr. Bayard is probably worth $100,000, $80,000 of which he inherited from his father.

DANIEL MANNING, SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

What Mr. Manning is he owes to himself. His boyhood was so hard and short that at nine years of age he was forced to earn a living as office boy in The Albany Argus, where he learned to set type, making his way into William Cassidy, the editor's, good graces. He was a sturdy, bright-faced, active lad, with a direct, simple way of saying things, that soon made him available as a reporter. In time Cassidy made him city editor, and on Cassidy's death years afterwards he stepped into his place. Perhaps the rarest luck that ever befel Daniel Manning was the liking William Cassidy took to him. The editor of The Argus was not only a keen politician, an accomplished scholar and a brilliant writer, but he was one of the most highly bred men ever known in Albany society. From his honest Irish parents young Manning got the rugged constitution and powerful frame that have been to him more than a fortune and a college diploma. But from William Cassidy he learned suave courtesy and easy dignity. It has often been said that no man could associate with Cassidy and not learn to behave like a gentleman. Mr. Manning has been the president of a bank, a leader in the enterprise of Albany and the greatest single power in his community. He has great common sense and business sagacity, qualities that have made his paper a power and turned the opportunities it threw in his way into the roads to an honest and a handsome fortune. He is an adroit and imperturbable politician, who uses candidates rather than others in his game. He has never until now held an office, though he has disposed of many. He has long been a disciple of Samuel J. Tilden, and as chairman of the democratic state committee he has a national reputation.

WILLIAM CROWNINSHIELD ENDICOTT, SECRETARY OF WAR.

Ex-Judge Endicott was born in Salem about 1827. He graduated from Harvard college in the class of 1847, married his cousin, a daughter of George F. body. He has two children, a son and a daughter. Judge Endicott was admitted to the bar about 1850. Gov. Washburn appointed him to a seat on the supreme bench in 1873, which he held until 1882, when he resigned. He is a member of the Massachusetts Historic society and of the board of overseers of Harvard college. Judge Endicott is a direct descendant from Gov. John Endicott. Until the Bell and Everett campaign he was an old-line whig. At that time he came into the democratic party. As a lawyer he has been very thorough, and in pleading a case very dignified. As a judge he stood high in rank. He has never been prominent in politics, until he was the nominee of the democratic party of Massachusetts for governor last fall, and although defeated he received a very handsome vote.

WILLIAM C. WHITNEY, SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.

William C. Whitney was born at Conway, Mass., forty-five years ago. He is the son of Gen. James S. Whitney, of Boston, and son-in-law of Henry B. Payne, of Ohio. He graduated at Yale in 1863, and then at Harvard law school. Coming to New York he took a desk in the office of Judge A. R. Lawrence. Here Whitney became familiar with the intricate laws of Gotham, which it afterwards became his duty as corporation counsel to enforce. His admission to the New York bar took place in 1864. His business for some time was chiefly in connection with corporations, in which he obtained a large practice. Prior to his first appointment as corporation counsel of the city of New York, which took place in 1875, at the time when the Tweed ring affairs were still dragging through the courts, he held the office successively through the administration of several mayors till 1882, when he resigned, as he said, for personal reasons. It is not to be presumed that because he proved the exception to Andrew Jackson's remark about officeholders—that few die and none resign—that the office was not an important one. The salary was SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY, a positive cure for Catarrh, Dysphtheria and Canker Mouth. For sale by Penny & McAllister.

$15,000 per year. The suits in the courts in which the city was concerned seldom involved less than $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. Mr. Whitney is tall and lean, with a free and easy juvenile manner. He is fond of good dinners and good society.

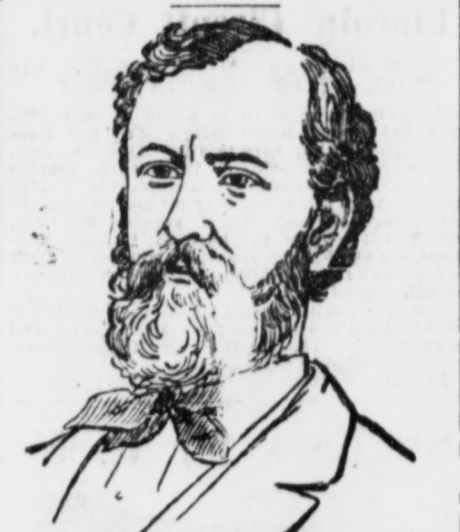

AUGUSTUS H. GARLAND, ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Though a native of Tennessee Senator Garland's family removed to Arkansas when he was but one year old. He received a collegiate education in Kentucky and was admitted to the bar at the age of twenty. He was a delegate to the state convention that passed the ordinance of secession and subsequently served in both houses of the confederate congress. He was elected the United States senate from Arkansas in 1866. In 1874 he was elected governor of his state, took his seat in the United States senate in 1877 and was re-elected in 1882. Garland is one of the ablest men in the senate. He is one of the finest southern gentlemen in Washington. Senator Palmer says he will be a credit to Mr. Cleveland's administration as far as ability goes.

LUCIUS QUINTUS CURTIUS LAMAR, SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

Lucius Q. C. Lamar is a typical southerner in appearance, birth and training, and is one of the brainiest men in southern politics. He is in his sixtieth year, and had a diversified and extremely interesting career. After his admittance to the bar at the age of twenty-two, he spent many years as a tutor in various colleges. He was a member from Mississippi of the 35th and 39th congresses, prior to the breaking out of the war, but resigned to take part in the secession convention of his state. In the confederate army he won a colonelcy. After the war he was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses, and then elected to the United States senate in 1877, and re-elected in 1882. The eulogy of Charles Sumner, delivered by Mr. Lamar in the house of representatives in March, 1874, was the advance step toward healing the sectional differences that existed between the north and south. Mr. Lamar is a widower and lives in furnished lodgings in Washington. He knows and cares as little about money-making as a child, and is consequently poor.

W. F. VILAS, POSTMASTER GENERAL.

Mr. Vilas was born at Chelsea, Orange county, Vt., July 9, 1840. When he was eleven years old he went to Wisconsin and entered as a pupil of the university of that state, and was graduated there in 1858. After which he studied law in Albany, N. Y., and was graduated from the law school of that city in 1860. Being admitted to the supreme court of New York he removed to Wisconsin, and in 1860 he made his first argument before the supreme court of that state. Upon the outbreak of the war Mr. Vilas entered the army as captain in the twenty-third Wisconsin volunteers, and rose to be major and lieutenant-colonel. He resigned his commission and resumed the practice of the law January 1, 1864. The supreme court of Wisconsin appointed Col. Vilas one of the revisors of the statutes of the state in 1875, and the revision of 1878, adopted by the state, was partly made by him. In 1879 Mr. Vilas refused the use of his name as a candidate for the governorship of Wisconsin. He has persistently declined office, but went to Chicago as a delegate to the convention of 1884, which honored him with its permanent chairmanship.

By midnight the number of persons in the city was greater than ever before in its history. President-elect Cleveland called at the white house and spent nearly two hours in conversation with President Arthur in the red parlor, and was then driven back to the Arlington hotel and the stream of callers recommenced. President Arthur returned the visit, accompanied by General McMichael. The visit was a brief one and at its conclusion Mr. Cleveland and party dined in the private dining room.

INAUGURAL SCENES.

WASHINGTON'S GRAND GREETING TO GROVER CLEVELAND.

The City Dressed in Bunting and Flowers. Gorgeous Scenes of Pomp and Pageantry Illustrated—The New Administration in Possession.

THE INAUGURAL PROCESSION.

To a man on top of the Washington monument the capital must have looked as it did in the spring of 1863, when the victorious armies and the multitude behind, with them gathered here. Again the multitudes poured in from every side of the city. Great squares of moving musket barrels gleamed in the sun, banners, flags and transparencies rose above the compact masses of marching civilians. Gorgeous bands formed resplendent squares here and there, and so closely packed were the shifting multitudes of spectators filling the spaces between the car tracks and the buildings that the very ground seemed alive. The sight of the marching troops, ascending Capitol Hill from all directions was a grand one, and different strains of music from many bands had an inspiring effect upon the multitude. By half-past 10 o'clock the space east of the main entrance of the capitol was literally packed with human beings. Many persons took positions on the steps of the house wing as early as 7 o'clock in order to have a good view of the proceedings. Nearly as far as the eye could reach from the capitol in all directions the streets and avenues were crowded with military organizations. Both sides of Pennsylvania avenue from Eighteenth street to the capitol were lined with a surging mass of humanity. The stands erected along the route were crowded and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed.

THE PRESIDENT TAKING THE OATH.

After the organization of the senate was completed, those assembled in the senate chamber proceeded through the rotunda to the platform on the central portico of the capitol.

THE PRESIDENT READING HIS INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

The tide of people that flowed to the capitol to hear the inaugural address was a perfect flood; with the densest throngs that building all Washington has known. Crowds of people examine the label on which your name is printed and remit us the amount you owe if you are in arrears.

not fortunate enough to secure tickets of admission to the senate longed about as if admission were to be won by waiting. The number of passes issued, however, was not small, each senator receiving five and each representative two. As soon as the doors were opened the galleries of the senate rapidly filled. Many holding tickets to the senate wing, but not to the galleries, filled the wings and corridors. The military organizations assembled in the cross streets about the Capitol park, where they remained while the president-elect delivered his inaugural address.

THE PRESIDENT AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

At 1 o'clock, on the conclusion of the ceremonies, the members of the senate, preceded by the sergeant-at-arms, vice president and the secretary, returned to the senate chamber, and the president, accompanied by the committee of arrangements, proceeded to the executive mansion.

VICE PRESIDENT HENDRICKS ADDRESSING THE SENATE.

The president and the president-elect entered the senate wing by the bronze doors, each accompanied by a member of the committee of arrangements. The president proceeded direct to the president's room, and the president-elect to the vice-president's room, where they remained until they entered the senate chamber. Having been introduced by the committee of arrangements, they occupied seats reserved for them in front of the presiding officer. The committee of arrangements took seats on their left.

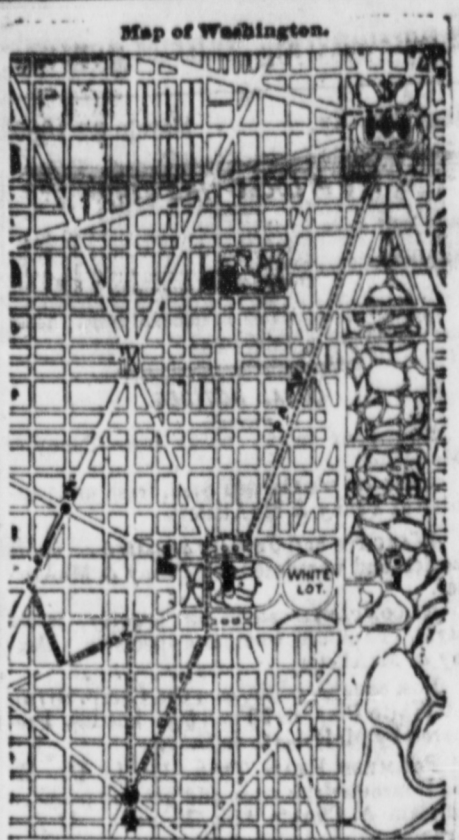

THE PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION.

Crowning the grand events of the day and forming a fitting close the festivities, was inauguration ball in the new pension building. In the decorations 500 navy flags have been utilized, and thousands of yards of bunting. Between the arches of the upper gallery were placed various devices bearing the coats of arms of various states. At one end of the ball room was placed an immense plate glass mirror, sixteen and a half by ten and a half feet, in a frame of cut glass, and at the opposite end the president's floral chair under a Japanese canopy. Pyramids of palms the tropical plants decorated each corner of the ball room. One of the features of the floral decorations were devices symbolical of the various executive departments of the government. The curtains and other hangings of the ball room were of the richest fabrics. Some idea of the elaborate preparations of the designs may be gathered from the fact that $5,400 were paid out in cash for the flowers which compose them.

VISITORS IN EAST ROOM OF WHITE HOUSE.

A factory built by Mary's, Ohio, sent $25,000 for the Nile expedition. We never know a man so well as after we have loaned him money.

The above map shows the principal points of interest during the day. The route of the procession is indicated by the dotted line. No. 1 is the Arlington, President Cleveland's temporary stopping place; No. 2, the white house; No. 3, the capitol; No. 4, Washington circle, where the procession began its counter-march; No. 5, Thomas circle, where the procession was disbanded; No. 6, the pension building, where the inauguration ball was held; No. 7, Washington monument, where the fireworks were let off. Thousands of people were attracted by the display.

SCENE IN A HOTEL CORRIDOR THE NIGHT OF THE 3D.

BILL NYE TO GROVER.

He Turns over the White House Key and Imparts Some Valuable Suggestions.

To President Grover Cleveland: DEAR SIR: The painful duty of turning over the administration of these United States and the key to the front door of the white house has been assigned to me. You will find the key hanging inside the storm-door and the cistern-pole upstairs in the haymow of the barn.

I have made a great many suggestions to the outgoing administration relative to the transfer of the Indian bureau from the department of the interior to that of the sweet by and by. The Indian, I may say, has been a great source of annoyance to me, several of their number having jumped one of my most valuable mining claims on Whiteriver. Still, I do not complain of that. This mine, however, I am convinced would be a good paying property if properly worked, and should you at any time wish to take the regular army and such other help as you may need and recapture it from our red brothers I would be glad to give you a controlling interest in it. You will find all papers in their appropriate pigeon holes, and a small jar of cucumber pickles down cellar, which were left over and to which you will be perfectly welcome. The asperities and heart burnings that were the immediate result of a hot and unusually bitter campaign are now all buried. Take these pickles and use them as though they were your own. They are none too good for you. You deserve them. We may differ politically, but that need not interfere with our warm personal friendship.

You will observe, on taking possession of the administration, that the navy is a little bit weather beaten and worn. I would suggest that it be newly painted in the spring. If it had been my good fortune to receive a majority of the suffrages of the people for the office which you now hold, I should have painted the navy red. Still, that need not influence you in the course which you may see fit to adopt.

I hope you will receive the foregoing in a friendly spirit, and whatever your convictions may be upon great questions of national interest, either foreign or domestic, that you will not undertake to blow out the gas on retiring, and that you will in other ways realize the fond anticipations which are now cherished in your behalf by a mighty people whose aggregated eyes are now on you. BILL NYE.

P. S.—You will be a little surprised, no doubt, to find no soap in the laundry or bath-rooms. It probably got into the campaign in some way and was absorbed. R. N.
